SteelMaster | 1200WF

THE EFFICIENT WATERBORNE THIN FILM FIRE PROTECTOR

SteelMaster 1200WF has been designed for performance and minimum environmental impact.

This product is water based, requiring less coating to cover structural steel for 120 minutes fire protection. It's also very easy to apply, promoting greater efficiency during application.

With rigorous fire testing, approval and certification to meet and often exceed the most stringent of leading global test standards, SteelMaster 1200WF is the most efficient thin film waterborne intumescent coating for 120 minutes fire protection available anywhere in the world.

AREAS OF APPLICATION

Structural steels exposed to internal environments up to corrosivity category C3 (ISO 12944 -2).

- Majority of steel sections covered • Easy airless spray application
- Ready to use • Reduced application time • Reduced site costs
- Environmentally compliant

Waterborne fire protection, specific to steel architecture.
